

What to Expect from a USBC Silver-Level Lesson

This guide outlines what you should experience during a structured, high-level bowling lesson. Silver-level coaching focuses on understanding, ball motion, and long-term development—not quick fixes.

1. Initial Assessment

- Observation before correction
- Evaluation of timing, balance, and release
- Ball motion analysis
- Goal discussion and equipment review

2. Clear Diagnosis

- Explanation of cause and effect
- Connection between physical game and ball reaction
- Clear understanding of what is changing and why

3. Focused Improvement Plan

- One primary adjustment at a time
- Structured drill progression
- Reinforcement through repetition and feedback

4. Lane Play & Ball Motion Discussion

- Breakpoint and entry angle awareness

- Pattern and transition discussion
- Adjustment strategy (moves vs manipulation)

5. Take-Home Plan

- 1–2 clear priorities
- Specific drill assignment
- Language to describe the change
- Optional video or written notes

A Silver-level lesson should feel structured, analytical, and intentional. The goal is to build understanding, independence, and long-term performance growth.
